

Public Service Librarian Health Sciences Library (three-year term)

Memorial University of Newfoundland invites applications for a three-year term position in the Memorial University Libraries system.

The person we want to hire

For this entry-level position, the Health Sciences Library seeks a creative, user-centred librarian to work in a collaborative and proactive environment. This position will focus primarily on undergraduate program support for the Faculty of Medicine, and may also include undergraduate program support for the Faculty of Nursing and the School of Pharmacy. The successful applicant is expected to participate in the planning, design, and delivery of innovative course-based instruction, reference services and consultations, collection development, literature searching, and research support for faculty and students. In addition, the applicant is expected to actively participate in initiatives related to strategic planning for both Memorial Libraries and the Faculty of Medicine.

The candidate must have an interest in health librarianship, and a commitment to excellence in program delivery and assessment. An ALA-accredited graduate degree is required. An undergraduate degree or coursework in a life sciences or health-related field would be considered an asset. The candidate should have some familiarity with information literacy and pedagogy, online instructional methods, and literature searching. Familiarity with emerging areas of librarianship such as research data management and research metrics is also desirable. Strong interpersonal and communication skills are essential.

Who we are

Memorial University is one of the largest universities in Atlantic Canada. As the province's only university, Memorial plays an integral role in the education and cultural life of Newfoundland and Labrador. Offering diverse undergraduate and graduate programs to almost 19,000 students, Memorial provides a distinctive and stimulating environment for learning in St. John's, a safe and friendly city with great historic charm, a vibrant cultural life, and easy access to a wide range of outdoor activities.

The Health Sciences Library supports the academic and clinical information-based needs for the faculty, staff and students of Memorial University's Faculty of Medicine, Faculty of Nursing, and School of Pharmacy, and the staff and students of the Health Sciences Centre site of the Eastern Regional Health Authority. The Library also supports the information needs of health care professionals throughout the province of Newfoundland and Labrador. The Health Sciences Library is committed to provide current and relevant expertise to its users through best practices in pedagogy, clinical practice, research, and lifelong learning. For more details about us, see <https://www.library.mun.ca/hsl/>.

Memorial University is committed to employment equity and diversity and encourages applications from all qualified candidates, including women; people of any sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression; Indigenous peoples; visible minorities, and racialized people; and people with disabilities. As part of Memorial University's commitment to employment equity, all applicants are invited to identify themselves as a member of a target group(s) as appropriate. Applicants cannot be considered as a member of a target group(s) unless they complete an employment equity survey. If you do not receive a survey or have any questions, please contact equity@mun.ca.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.

We acknowledge that the lands on which Memorial University's campuses are situated are in the traditional territories of diverse Indigenous groups, and we acknowledge with respect the diverse histories and cultures of the Beothuk, Mi'kmaq, Innu, and Inuit of this province.
